

Advancing Equity for Older Adults

RESOURCE GUIDE • October 2021

Denny Chan, Directing Attorney for Equity Advocacy, Justice in Aging

Sahar Takshi, Staff Attorney, Justice in Aging

The following resources, focused on equity for older adults, were curated by Justice in Aging through the National Center on Law and Elder Rights. This list is designed as a starting point to access some of the key resources most relevant to equity and systemic discrimination for older adults, but it is in no way intended to be all-inclusive. The guide is organized into sections, starting from general resources on equity and racial justice to examples of state and local-level resources. NCLER is available for one-on-one technical assistance consultations for programs seeking to center their work with older adults on equity. Please reach out to us at ConsultNCLER@acl.hhs.gov if you'd like more information or to request a consultation.
